Erste Asset Management: new Head of Institutional Sales

Oliver Röder took over as Head of Institutional Sales on 1 February 2020. He is now responsible for all institutional sales activities across Erste Asset Management.

This appointment brings the Institutional Sales team of Austria, Germany, and International under his direction. He is also in charge of managing and coordinating the according activities in the Central and East European countries. In this position, he reports to Wolfgang Traindl, member of the Board of Directors of Erste Asset Management.

Heinz Bednar, CEO: "Oliver Röder has convinced us with his strategic ideas about ways of expanding the institutional business of Erste AM further. His international track record and his years of experience are crucial elements of success for this business segment, which is very important to us."

Oliver Röder (47) has been Director of Erste AM in Germany since 2016 – a position which he will maintain. Previously, he worked for other international houses in International Sales. He holds a degree in Bank Management and earned an MBA from Ashridge Management College. He is member of Deutsche Vereinigung für Finanzanalyse und Asset Management e.V. (DVFA; German Association for Financial Analysis and Asset Management) and Certified Investment Analyst (CIIA).
