

New Capital Market Web Portal Goes Online

Back

13.08.2009

The new capital market web portal is now online at www.produkte.erstegroup.com. Apart from information on products, the portal also features extensive market information and a Research Center that gives users the opportunity to obtain data on specific finance and risk management topics. The new portal also offers users a know-how zone with in-depth information on capital markets including a glossary of the most important market terms as well as the answers to frequently asked questions on the bank's products.

The new research functions

The Research Center provides customers with up-to-date reports and expert opinions on the major markets and investment segments. Further features are an interactive map of regions and the Research Finder that filter the information by country and financial category (e.g. currency, sector, etc.).

In the markets and trends zone, users can obtain current information on stocks, interest rates, currencies and commodities. An interactive investment map gives users a precise overview of the movements on international stock markets.

Product information

The product zone provides users with relevant information such as prices, charts, profiles and product sheets on capital markets products. This site also offers a yield calculator for bonds and a warrants calculator. The "Tutorials" function gives the answers to questions on how the products work as well as detailed product descriptions. A presentation of the chances and opportunities as well as performance to date of the individual products is available from the product overview site.

Additionally, there is a special site for Institutional investors and corporate customers featuring information on capital market products as well as news from the CEE regions and market updates.

Back