<sup>1</sup> The limit hour represents the moment of the day depending on the bank marking an operation as received in the current working day or in the next working day. The limit hours are given according to the official time of Romania GMT+2. Around Legal Feast days, the limit processing hours can be changed. The limit hours are defined for working days, except intra-banking payment transactions in lei or foreign currency, where the limit hours are defined for calendar days.

<sup>2</sup> A working day is any day in which banks in Romania are open for business and interbank transactions concluded in Romania. If payment is made in a currency other than national, a working day will mean any day when banks are open for business/foreign exchange transactions concluded in Romania and the main financial center on the currency in which those payments are made.

<sup>3</sup> The currency date shall be the date on which the amount transferred should be received by the beneficiary's bank, with the statement that the beneficiary's bank may not credit the beneficiary's account on the same day it was received.

Notes:

- A. Depending on technical capabilities and/or the limit hours practiced by partner banks, BCR can, but is not bound to process certain operations received after the limit hour (similarly to those received before the limit hour).
- B. BCR reserves the right to change the limit hour for banking operations performance and their related processing rules by displaying them at the premise of the bank operational entities and/or by sending an information message through electronic banking services.
