 - (c) after receipt of the payment order, the amount of the payment transaction shall be debited from the Client's account and credited to the payee's payment service provider's account at the latest by the end of the next Business Day (this period is extended by one Business Day in the case of transactions initiated on paper) for:
 - (i) payment transactions in the currency of an EU/EEA member state, other than Euro, carried out on the territory of Romania;
 - (ii) payment transactions in Euro for which the payee's payment service provider is in an EU/EEA member state;

 - (e) payment transactions executed in currencies other than Euro and the national currencies of EU and EEA countries shall be executed by the Bank within a reasonable period of time, in accordance with the nature of the transaction.
- 27. When fraud suspicions arise in relation with payment transactions, including cases where these are reported by another payment service provider, the Bank may delay their execution, even by exceeding the COT, including instant/urgent payments, until the suspicions are clarified. The Bank may contact the Client in order to clarify the fraud suspicions regarding the payment transactions.

28. In the case of incomings with incorrect/incomplete details (including cross-border payment orders in RON), the Bank shall have the right to take the necessary steps to credit the amounts in foreign currency received by making inquiries with external banks, charging fees according to the BCR Applicable Fee Schedule in force at the date of charging.

29. Transaction limits. To protect the interests of Clients and ensure an enhanced level of security, including the mitigation of the risk of fraud (e.g., preventing unauthorized access to Clients' accounts and reducing the risk of fraudulent transactions) and proper management of transaction volumes and monitoring suspicious activities, the Bank reserves the right to unilaterally set transaction limits applicable to payments made through the Electronic Banking Services.

The transaction limits set by the Bank may include, without being limited to, aspects such as the total daily limit for payments, the maximum amount per payment and the limit regarding the maximum number of payments allowed per day. Clients will be informed by the Bank about the existence, application, or modification of these transactional limits through any communication means stipulated in Chapter 6 (Final provisions), Section A (Client-Bank communication), with any such Notification taking immediate effect. If a Client intends to temporarily modify these limits, the Client may contact the Bank exclusively via the phone number indicated in the definition of BCR Technical Support (which varies depending on the relevant Electronic Banking Service). The request will be reviewed by the Bank in accordance with its internal policies and risk assessment.

Within the transaction limits set by the Bank, the Client may additionally apply specific transaction limits for payments made through the Electronic Banking Services. The reduction of such limits may be carried out by the Administrator User or any Authorized User, exclusively for the Accounts over which they have signing authority, while the increase of the limits may be carried out by the Administrator User or any Authorized User with signing authority over all Accounts opened by the Client with the Bank.

30. Mismatches between the currency of the account and the currency of the amount transferred or between the currency of the financing and the currency of the paid amount

(a) In the case of amounts transferred to the Client's account, if the beneficiary account mentioned in the payment message is opened in a currency other than that of the amount transferred, the Bank may, at its option, without notifying or obtaining any confirmation/rejection whatsoever from the Client, carry out the collection operation by crediting the beneficiary account with the equivalent in the currency of this account of the amount transferred, or refuse to carry out the operation. The currency conversion shall be performed at the Bank's exchange rate valid at the time of crediting the account.

(b) In the case of amounts transferred from the Client's account, if the paying account mentioned in the payment message is opened in a currency other than that of the amount transferred, the Bank may, at its option, without notifying or obtaining any confirmation/rejection whatsoever from the Client, execute the payment operation by debiting the paying account with the currency equivalent of the transferred amount in the currency of this account, or refuse to carry out the operation. The currency conversion shall be performed at the Bank's exchange rate valid at the time of debiting the account.

(c) Where the Client uses amounts made available under a credit facility or any other financing facility granted by the Bank, and the payment requested by the Client in connection with the amount utilised from the financing is to be made in a currency different from the currency of the financing, the Bank may, at its discretion, without notifying the Client or obtaining any confirmation or refusal of any kind from the Client, either perform the foreign exchange operation necessary to execute the payment by converting the amount used from the financing currency into the payment currency, or refuse to execute the operation. The currency conversion shall be performed at the Bank's exchange rate available within the Electronic Banking Service at the time the financing is utilised.

(d) In all cases, the Client acknowledges and agrees that the foreign exchange risk related to such operations is borne entirely by the Client.

- (e) If a payment, collection or use of a financing facility that has been completed by the Bank by performing a currency conversion operation as described above is executed in reverse, for whatever reason (e.g. the payment order is refused by the payee's payment service provider, the payment order is revoked by the payer with the payee's consent, etc.), then the Bank shall perform the reverse operation at the new exchange rate applied by the Bank, valid at the time of executing the conversion operation. The Bank shall not be liable for losses arising from differences and fluctuations in exchange rates between the time of execution of the initial payment or collection operation and the time of execution of the reverse operation, such losses being borne in full by the Client.

31. Direct Debit Mandates and Instructions:

- (a) The Client may enter into Direct Debit Mandates authorising for an unlimited, but revocable, period both the payee to issue occasional Direct Debit Instructions on the current bank account opened with the Bank and the Bank to debit the current bank account with the amount specified in the Direct Debit Instructions issued by the payee.
- (b) The Direct Debit Mandate exclusively governs the payment method and has no other implications on the underlying contracts concluded between the Client, as payer, and the payment beneficiary. Any payment obligations due prior to the entry into force of the Direct Debit Mandate shall be settled by the Client through other available means.
- (c) The Client acknowledges the Direct Debit Instructions as executed from the moment they are recorded in the account statement.
- (d) The Client shall ensure the necessary funds are available in the current bank account opened with the Bank, including the amounts related to fees owed to the Bank for processing transactions, starting from the day prior to the settlement date of the Direct Debit Instruction.
- (e) The Client shall facilitate the transmission to the payee of any personal information that may be contained in the Direct Debit Mandate, including information regarding any changes to the details of the current account opened with the Bank from which the amounts specified in the Direct Debit Instructions are debited.
- (f) The Client may: (i) amend the Direct Debit Mandate by issuing a new Direct Debit Mandate; (ii) revoke the Direct Debit Mandate, in each case, on the basis of an order sent to the Bank at the counter of the Banking Units, or through the relevant Electronic Banking Service (if the application of the relevant Banking Service allows this option). The Direct Debit Mandate revocation or amendment order shall take effect from the Business Day following its receipt by the Bank.
- (g) Revocation or amendment of the Direct Debit Mandate shall not affect any right or obligation that arose in connection with a Direct Debit Instruction transmitted under the Direct Debit Mandate and transmitted to the automated clearing house prior to the time the revocation or the amendment takes effect.
- (h) In addition to the termination cases provided in Chapter 3 (Other Contractual Matters. Modification and Termination of the Contractual Relationship), Section G (Termination of the contractual relationship related to any Banking Service), Section H (Closure of Accounts) or Section I (Termination of the business relationship), the Direct Debit Mandate may terminate: (i) by revocation by the Client, communicated at least one Business Day prior to the termination date; (ii) immediately, as a result of the termination of the Direct Debit Commitment concluded between the Bank and the payment beneficiary, upon notification of the Client by the payment beneficiary; or (iii) on the date when the Direct Debit Instruction becomes irrelevant due to the termination or amendment of payment obligations, upon notification of the Client by the payment beneficiary.

- (i) The Client may make requests for reimbursement of a payment transaction submitted through the payee within 8 weeks from the date on which the funds were debited from its current account. As an exception to the above, the Client expressly understands and agrees that payment transactions carried out under the Business to Business (B2B) Direct Debit Scheme do not allow for the submission of such a refund request. Requests for reimbursement of an authorised payment transaction received after the 8 weeks have elapsed shall be settled directly and exclusively by the Client and the respective payee in accordance with the legal relationship existing between them, without the Bank's involvement, and the return of the amount claimed shall not be subject to the above-mentioned reimbursement provisions.
- 32. In case of refusal of a payment instruction, in any of the assumptions mentioned in these GBTC, the Bank shall notify the Client, by any of the means of notification available to the Bank under these GBTC, of the refusal, including by displaying a message in the application related to the Electronic Banking Service concerned (to the extent that the application has this option) and, if possible, the reasons thereof, as well as the procedure for remedying the errors that led to the refusal, unless prohibited by other relevant legal provisions. If the refusal of a payment instruction is objectively justified, the Bank may charge fees, both for sending the Notice and for the analysis of the reasons that led to the refusal, according to the BCR Applicable Fee Schedule at the date of their collection.
- 33. Foreign exchange banking transactions and/or Financial Transactions
- (a) Any request by the Client for a bank foreign exchange transaction and/or Financial Transaction, materialised by signing a foreign exchange order, any other type of order or document or a Contractual Form, confirmed in a recorded telephone call, on a platform related to an Electronic Banking Service or by any other means agreed with the Bank, either with immediate settlement or with another currency date, is irrevocable.
- (b) All costs arising from exchange rate differences and/or quotations shall be borne by the Client. Furthermore, both in the event of non-compliance with the order given and in the event of modification by the Client of the order transmitted to the Bank, all consequences, including but not limited to damages, additional costs incurred by the Bank, shall be borne entirely by the Client. The amounts related to foreign exchange banking transactions and/or Financial Transactions will be secured in the Client's accounts on the date the order is transmitted. In exceptional cases, on a case-by-case basis, at the Bank's decision, it may be agreed with the Client to ensure the necessary funds are available on the settlement date of the transaction.
- (c) In the event that the bank foreign exchange transaction or Financial Transaction cannot be settled due to insufficient available funds, the Bank shall have the right to close the position through a similar opposite transaction, and the Client shall bear any negative difference between the exchange rates and/or trading quotes.
- (d) The exchange rate for foreign exchange operations transmitted through the Electronic Banking Service up to the COT is the exchange rate established by BCR, which the Bank applies at the moment of processing the respective foreign exchange operation, and accessible on the platform related to the Electronic Banking Service, with which the Authorised User agrees by ordering the operation. The currency exchange rate displayed on the platform related to the Electronic Banking Service has an informative value and does not bind the Bank to process the currency exchange operation at that exchange rate.
- (e) The Bank shall be entitled to cancel a bank foreign exchange transaction or a Financial Transaction if such transaction has been executed at an erroneous quotation and/or outside the market, irrespective of the cause(s) of such error (, including settling the amount resulting from the cancellation of such bank foreign exchange transaction or Financial Transaction.
- (f) The Client assumes sole responsibility for the terms of any Financial Transaction for which a quotation is requested: transaction amount, maturity, direction (sale/purchase), and any other elements, including settlement accounts. The Financial Transaction is deemed accepted and confirmed by both parties at the moment the Client accepts the terms and conditions of the respective Financial Transaction, including in cases where the Contractual Documentation and/or specific legislation requires the subsequent submission of a signed confirmation of the Financial Transaction.

- (g) The risk associated with the conclusion of the bank foreign exchange transactions or Financial Transactions by means of recorded telephone calls, in particular due to the lack of authorization from the sender, misuse of telephone connections, as well as transmission errors, malfunctions, or interruptions in the operation of the Electronic Banking Service or erroneous orders shall be the full responsibility of the Client, who hereby expressly assumes the risk of communication or transmission in accordance with the provisions of the Civil Code.
- (h) The conclusion of a banking transaction and/or Financial Transaction by recorded telephone call, if its terms have been bilaterally accepted, shall be deemed to have been carried out with the Client if the Client communicates by telephone, even if the transaction has been initiated by a person other than the Client or a person authorised by the Client, the Client expressly accepting that in this situation the Bank shall have no obligation or liability whatsoever.

34. Cash transactions

- (a) Cash collection operations and cash payment operations may be carried out at the Banking Units, within the Working Hours and at the Bank's multifunctional machines. Unscheduled withdrawals and withdrawals above the established limit can only be made with the prior consent of the Bank.
- (b) If the Client fails to notify the Bank in advance of his intention to withdraw cash and the Bank does not have sufficient funds available in the respective currency, the Bank may release to the Client, at his request, the requested amount in another currency or in RON.
- (c) In the event that the Client requests the withdrawal of foreign currency amounts from the account, the Bank shall release the actual currency fractions in RON equivalent at the Bank's exchange rate valid on the day of payment.
- (d) If the date set for withdrawal has passed without the cash withdrawal having been made, the Bank's obligation to keep the said cash amount at the Client's disposal shall cease.
- (e) When depositing cash by the Client at the Bank's cashier, the Client is obliged to wait until the cashier has completed the cash verification operations. If the Client does not comply with this obligation and any discrepancies are found, the Client is obliged to recognise the amount resulting from the verification by the cashier of the relevant Banking Unit. Any counterfeit banknotes or coins presented at the Bank's counters will be detained on the basis of a report and then handed over to the competent investigation authorities

35. In relation to Scheduled Payment orders, the Client shall instruct the Bank to execute payment orders corresponding to each Scheduled Payment order only on the dates and in the amounts instructed by the Account Authorised Persons/Authorised Users, without being conditioned in the execution of the mandate or the receipt of any Consent other than that given by the Client either through the Account Authorised Persons/Authorised Users or through the Client 's Payment Initiation Service Provider.

36. In relation to payment transactions by Debit Instruments (ID):

- (f) in the event of major payment incidents, which constitute offences according to the provisions of the legal regulations in force or if the Bank does not have certain information regarding the issuer of a Debit Instrument, the Bank shall proceed in accordance with the applicable legal provisions, reporting the respective facts to the criminal investigation authorities or any other competent authorities.

37. Challenging unauthorised or incorrectly executed operations

- (a) The Client shall notify the Bank in writing of any transaction on its accounts (except for the attached Cards) which it considers to be unauthorised or incorrectly performed, including errors/omissions in the statement of account, as soon as possible after discovery but no later than 30 calendar days from the date of the transaction. If within 30 calendar days from the date of the operation on the account, the Client does not communicate in writing by any communication means available to the Client according to Section A (Client-Bank Communication), Chapter 6 (Final Provisions), any errors or omissions found concerning the operations performed, the balance and the operations on the account statement shall be considered as implicitly accepted.
- (b) The Bank shall investigate the issues raised by the Client and provide a response to the investigation within 30 days of receipt of the Client's Notice.
- (c) If the investigation results that the error is the fault of the Client, the Client shall be charged with a transaction investigation fee, as per the BCR Applicable Fee Schedule in force at the time of its collection.
- (d) If, following the investigation, the error is found to be the Bank's fault, the Bank shall immediately or at the latest at the end of the next Business Day reimburse the amount of the unauthorized payment transaction, or restore the debited payment account to the situation in which it would have been if the unauthorized payment transaction had not taken place, if applicable.
- (e) The Bank shall have the right to correct on its own initiative any miscalculation arising from the Bank's administration of the Client's current bank accounts/subaccounts.

If the unique identification code provided by the Client is incorrect, a payment is executed incorrectly as a result of an operational or technical error, including duplicate payments, processing errors, hardware/software malfunctions, algorithmic errors, or incorrect manual interventions, or in cases where, after the payment is made, there are suspicions of fraud, the Bank shall not be liable for the non-execution or defective execution of the payment transaction. In such situations, the Bank has the right to return the amounts related to the payments in order to restore the account balance to its original state. In the event of receiving a return request from another payment institution, the Bank has the right to immediately withdraw the amount from the Client's accounts without prior notice. The Bank, as the payer's payment service provider, shall make reasonable efforts to recover the funds involved in the payment transaction and will cooperate with the beneficiary's payment service provider for the proper collection of funds. Also, as the payee's payment service provider, the Bank will cooperate in these efforts including by communicating with the payer's payment service provider all relevant information for the proper collection of funds. In this case, the Bank may block any available funds in the accounts up to the equivalent amount of the payment order. For the recovery operation, the Bank may charge a fee in accordance with the BCR Applicable Fee Schedule in force on the date of collection. If a payment order is initiated directly by the Client, as payer, and the Bank can prove to the Client that the payee's payment service provider has received the amount that is the subject of the payment transaction, the Bank's liability ceases and the payee's payment service provider becomes liable to the Payee for the correct execution of the payment transaction. If a payment order is initiated directly by a payer for the benefit of the Client and the payer's payment service provider cannot prove that the Bank has received the amount to be paid, the Bank shall not be liable to the Client.

G. TERMINATION OF THE CONTRACTUAL RELATIONSHIP RELATING TO ANY BANKING SERVICE

1. The date on which the party at fault receives the Notice shall be deemed to be the date of its default as provided by law. If within the period indicated in the Notice the party at fault does not properly perform its contractual obligation, the other party may send it a written Notice declaring the unilateral termination with immediate effect of the contractual relationship relating to the Banking Service in question;

The Bank's right to unilaterally terminate the contractual relationship relating to a Banking Service shall also apply in the event of repeated breach by the Client and/or the Account Authorised Person of the contractual obligations undertaken towards the Bank, even of minor importance, or in the event of an unquestionable manifestation to the Bank of the intention not to perform any of these obligations;

- (d) by unilateral termination by either party of the contractual relationship relating to the Banking Service in question, without the need to justify a reason, with a prior Notice of 15 calendar days sent by the party declaring the unilateral termination of the contractual relationship in question.

4. The termination of the contractual relationship related to a Banking Service shall entail the expiry of any liquid obligations arising between the parties on the basis of or in connection with the Banking Service in question, which shall survive the termination of the contractual relationship until the date of their extinction.
5. Until the date of the effective termination of the relevant contractual relationship, the Client is obliged to hand over to the Bank any payment instruments or devices in connection with the provision of the terminated Banking Service, such as Card(s), Debit Instruments, Token device / External Device in its custody, in good working order.

Until the date of the effective closure of the account(s), the Client shall ensure that all amounts in the account(s), with the exception of amounts due to the Bank up to the date of the effective closure of the account(s), are either transferred to another account or withdrawn in cash. If the Client does not opt for either of these alternatives, then the balance of the relevant account shall be recorded in the Bank's records in the accounts of different creditors, separately for each currency, on which no interest shall be granted, without prejudice to the Client's right to claim repayment of such amounts within the applicable prescription period. After the expiry of the applicable prescription, the Bank may reclassify the aforementioned amounts as income of the Bank.
